gress, the senator stated that the simple answer to that criticism was that it was not true.

Fallen in Error.

Research to that criticism was that it was not true.

Fallen in Error.

He did not attribute, it to the Governor to make any intentional misstatement, but he supposed the Governor, through carelessness, had fallen into an edvor. It was not incumbent upon him to explain how the mistake was made, but a reference to the volume and page cited by his opponent showed the statement he quoted against this resolution as incorrect.

The senator referred at some length in the statement made by his comsettion to the effect that the settlement of the claim of the State against the Seateral government involved only 55.50. He said that besides the $5.50, paid in cash, honest, undisputed bonds of the State, amounting, principal and interest, to $1.722.600, were cancelled and delivered up to the State; that the State would have been bound to pay these bonds in money but for the legislation passed by Congress through his efforts.

In support of his views on this matter the genator produced interviews from Colonel Morton Marye, auditor, and the official report of Judge Dew, second auditor, sustaining the position that the sum of $1.723.000 was involved in the settlement and was saved to the State by the legislation in question.

The seamtor also discussed at length the railroad freight rate making bill, which was pending in Congress at time of adjournment, and which is now under consideration by the Senate Committee on Interstite Commerce.

He expressed the opinion that during the first of the next session of Congress the measure would be enacted. He said that it was a most important matter now attracting the attention of the American people, and both branches of Congress realized its importance and would respond to the public sentiment of the country, which demanded immediate relief against the arbitrary powers of transportation companies to discriminate against communities and individuals and to determine for themselves the tax they should levy on commodities transported by them.

Transportation.

Transportation.

He disclaimed any disposition to do any injustice to the transportation companies, but insisted that an able commission should be given full power to protect the people against unjust rates, as well as against discrimination.

In this connection be referred to the statement frequently made that he was against discrimination.

In this connection he referred to the statements frequently made that he was a railroad attorney or partial to railroad corporations. He called attention to the fact that so far as he was informed not a single railroad president in Virginia was supporting him for re-election, while certainly as many as three of them had been giving their active support to his competitor. Answering the charge of his competitor that he had accomplished nothing for the people of Virginia, the senator referred to an appropriation secured by him, including a large sum for James River in Richmond, for Appomattox River in Petersburg, for a deeper channel in Norfolk, and for harbor improvements in Newport News and elsewhere.

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 16.—The foreign office, replying to an inquiry of the Associated Press regarding the excitement at Tokio over the report that German, troops had occupied Haichou, in the southern part of the Shantung Peninsula, says the report is wholly incorrect, and one of several reports designed to make it appear that Germany is attempting in Shantung what Russia did in Manchuria. The German government is doing nothing in Stantung outside of fulfilling her treaty agreement with China, which fact has been communicated to both the Washington and Tokio government. The foreign office regards, these reports as spread to mislead the ophnion of the world concerning Germany's aims and acts.

Come Higher Up the River.

"There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip" is an ancient saw that is as true as death and taxes. An afternoon paper pringed a story on yesterday that the Secretary of the Navy, Hon. Paul Morton, would arrive in Richmond lists night, and even stated that he would visit l'eterabuig on his way, adding that he would travel on a certain railroad to Petersburg and upon one of three trains from that city to Richmond. As a further item of news it was stated that Capitain Shiriey, of the Old Dominion Steamship Company's ship "Berkeley," had agreed to pilot the "Dolphin" up James River.

The Secretary of the Navy did not visit Potersburg nor Richmond, but after a Short stop at "Westore," where he am his guests landed, steamed back down the river. The Hon. Paul Morton very likely said that he regretted that he could not visit Richmond on the present trip, the Loiphin not being able to reach Richmond on account of her draught, which is eighteen feet, while the James River channel shows but sixteen feet.

It was a constant dull aching pain which grew worse as time passed. It caused me pain to stoop or to do any heavy lifting. In the morning it was only with great difficulty that I could get up and dress, as my back would be so lame and stiff. I was also annoyed with sick headaches, and I felt weak and with sick headaches, and I felt weak and miserable nearly all the time. I tried remedy after remedy, in fact everything my friends advised but got not even relief. At last I heard of Doan's Kidney Pillia and procured a box at Owens & Minor Drug Co.'s store. They proved just the remedy I needed. In a short time the pain had disappeared and the headaches and other symptoms of kidney troubic became things of the past.
